MCAD Announces 3rd Annual Art Auction
Christie’s Signs on as a Lead Sponsor and Auctioneer

Minneapolis, MN—April 10, 2015—The Minneapolis College of Art and Design (MCAD), already nationally known for hosting the largest college art sale in America, announces The Auction at MCAD, now in its third year. Featured works by distinguished alumni, faculty, and friends from the past several decades will be auctioned with proceeds supporting the MCAD Scholarship Fund.

The Auction at MCAD, an exclusive art party, is attended by a select group of roughly 350 members of the creative community. The event features nearly 50 pieces of exceptional quality artworks created by MCAD alumni, faculty, and staff priced starting at $500 and sold via silent and live auction.

This year, for the first time ever, Christie’s, the world’s largest auction house, is both a lead sponsor and auctioneer. Accordingly, only the finest quality art will be included for this year’s sale. To date, contributing artists include perennial favorites: Julie Buffalohead ’95, Ed Charbonneau ’06, MFA, Stacey Davidson, Samantha French ’05, John-Paul Pietrus, David Rathman ’82, Angela Strassheim ’95, and Do Ho Suh; just to name a few.

Bid. Buy. Collect. Or just come to have a good time. Either way, you’re directly supporting the next generation of artists, designers, and entrepreneurs who fuel the creative economy of our city and state. Since 2013, The Auction at MCAD has raised more than $500,000 in scholarship funds for MCAD students. Please help to ensure that our community continues to propel the next generation of creative talent.
